PLUMAS CITY.

THIS flourishing town needs no puffing, for there can scarcely be one having been in California one month who is ignorant of the important stand Plumas is to take among her sister townships. Being located so immediately in the midst of the rich mines of Bear river, Dry creek, Rough and Ready, Gold river, Yuba and Deer creek. The rich diggings of the Bear river, just discovered, are within fourteen miles. To all these mines the roads are remarkably level, being over prairie land. The finest red brick clay is there in abundance, and timber to last for ages. Is situated on high land and beyond the possibility of overflow. Ninety-nine of the hundred who cross the plains this year will pass by Truckee river, and pass directly through Johnson's Rancho and Plumas City, where the richest soil and finest gazing land in the world is found. There is every inducement for traders to visit this town for the reason above named, and trade has taken an active start there, and already, although but five weeks since the first building was erected, there now are some twenty large frame buildings finished or nearly so, and occupied for merchandising, hotel, &c,, as also as many tent houses.

For the information of those just arriving in the country, the subscribers would state that Plumas City is situated on the east banks of the Feather river, about two and a half miles below Hock Farm, but on the opposite side, and seven miles above Bear river. All the steamers of light draught can run to this point the year round, and without doubt must prove the head of steam navigation through the summer and fall months. In the winter and spring, sail vessels drawing ten to twelve feet water, have no difficulty in navigating as high up the river as Plumas, when close along the banks in front of the town all winter could be found 16 to 22 feet of water. There are already over two hundred persons interested in this town, and increasing daily. Teams and horses are in readiness always to convey miners and their goods into the interior, at the lowest rates. The subscribers have erected their storehouses, and are storing miners trunks and chests for 50 cents per month.

The proprietors are not anxious to sell to speculators, but to actual settlers, who will find liberal inducement.
G. H. Beach,
San Francisco, May 22. cli

NOTICE—Trinidad City is situated on the left bank of the Sacramento, about 20 miles above Lawson's ranch, a short distance below the Red Bluffs, and by the new road, which leaves the Sacramento at Trinidad City, only 50 miles from the Trinity Diggings.

Steamboat navigation to the above point is now open, the Jack Hays having already made two successful trips with provisions, houses, lumber, &c, and as soon as well assorted stores are established, the whole supply for the Trinity mines will be derived from there.

At present, the nearest stores to Trinity Diggings are at Marysville, a distance of nearly 200 miles

The greater portion of the shares of this city having been disposed of, the different shareholders are hereby notified that the drawing of lots will take place in the town of Marysville, on Tuesday, the 4th of June next.

A few shares are still unsold, and may be had if applied for immediately.

DAILY PACIFIC NEWS.

J. WINCHESTER.....EDITOR

Tuesday, May 28, 1850.

Mr H. Chafee is the authorized collector of this establishment, assisted by Mr. B. E. Holland.

PRINTING OF THE LAWS.—Our readers are referred to the advertisement in another column, by which it will be seen that arrangements have been made for the distribution of the laws throughout the State, from this office. The printing is now proceeding with diligence, and very soon large additional materials will be put in requisition, so as to complete the issue; it is hoped, in a few weeks.

The "Act to regulate Proceedings in Courts of Justices of the Peace in Civil cases," will be ready this afternoon; as also a considerable number of other important laws.

Foreign Miners.

Gratitude for the reception of favors is usually considered a mark of justice, no less than of amiability; it always is a distinguishing feature in the character of the liberal-minded; and just in proportion to the slender semblance of right to draw upon the generosity of a party, should the recipient of liberality, of protection in business and life, feel himself debarred—however unnatural and foreign to his disposition the effort may be—from the privilege of playing the viper to the injury of his benefactor. It affords us no pleasure to find a necessity of saying that there are people, and numbers of them, in California, who, disregarding all these common and acknowledged decencies, scorn the shadow of a concealment of their base natures, and unblushingly proclaim themselves villains.

In no other light can we view the conduct of those persons who, uninvited, as intruders and rank trespassers upon a soil purchased at the expense of the lives of citizens of the United States, have flocked to this State in swarms to secure wealth for themselves at the expense of the rightful heirs of her hidden treasures, and at the very first call made by the Legislature for the tax absolutely requisite to the support of the government that protects them, have mocked and braved the officers of the law, and insultingly addressed them as the exponent of a "band of miserable fellows, who are repudiated by their country."

These infamous renegades from the poverty of their homes, or the justice due their crimes, because called upon for a government tax, bristle with indignation, and boldly threaten to "put an end to the vexations of the Americans in California," to place a "bridle in the mouth of that horde who call themselves citizens of the United States."

They are mistaken. Some of them have forgotten lessons taught them in that school in which they were declared the unworthy possessors of this very soil. Some of them have yet to take a lesson in that same school, where, if they do not learn the rudiments of good manners, they may imbibe some grains of discretion.

The government will be sustained. The American miners have said it, and they are not of that class who resolve for the pleasure of changing their opinion. Read the following notice, and the lines appended from General Besangon, handed us by Col. Hays:

NOTICE TO FOREIGNERS.

It is time to unite, Frenchmen, Chilians, Peruvians, Mexicans; there is the highest necessity for putting an end to the vexations of the Americans in California.

If you intend to allow yourselves to be fleeced by a band of miserable fellows, who are repudiated by their country, then unite and go to the Camp of Sonora next Sunday. There will we try to guaranty security for us all, and to put a bridle in the mouths of that horde, who call themselves citizens of the United States, thereby profaning that country.

COLUMBIA, May 16, 1850.

This is a copy of one among the numerous inflammatory bills posted upon the the trees in the "diggings," written in different languages. "The country is safe." My best regards.

L. A. BESANGON.

To Col. HAYS.

There are but two courses for these deeply aggrieved parties to pursue—either pay the tax quietly, or quit the country. Either horn is at their choice, and they will show their wisdom in doing one or the other immediately.

As for those gamblers and few American traders scattered through the southern mines, who have so far forgotten what is due to their own country as to foster and promote this feeling of resistance for the increase of their ill-gotten gains, it would afford us unmingled satisfaction to read among the departures that entire class who are producers of nothing but mischief, and only thrive when they plunder others.

AN ALARM OF FIRE took place last night at the Bryant House. It arose from a baker's shop, next door, firing up the ovens. In the melee at the Bryant house, a monte dealer named Gomez drew a bowie knife and attempted to stab persons around him. He was badly beaten over the head with decanters, and led off to the station house.

The Major Tompkins.

During last week, we twice took occasion to mention the mysterious circumstances attending the disappearance of a female passenger on board this vessel from Callao to this port. Captain Duprey, the commander of the Tompkins from New Orleans, called upon us yesterday, to contradict the charge laid to him. We have taken up this subject in order that the truth may be brought out in the case, and we give the Captain the full benefit of the statement so far as it goes. The following is an extract from the log book, which he endorses as an explanation of the affair:

EXTRACT FROM LOG BOOK.—March 4, 1850, Lat. 16 10, N., Lon. 122 30, W. At 7 30 A. M., the Captain went forward into the steerage, to order one of the cabin passengers aft (a woman) from amongst the sailors to her cabin; she having slept there two nights in one of the men's berths; told her to go into the cabin, she saying she would. She then left the steerage to go aft; the Captain remaining in the house after her coming aft, and seeing nothing of her, concluded she had gone forward amongst the negresses.

At 8 A. M., not seeing her, went forward to look for her. We then searched the hold and cabin, but could not find her, concluded she must have gone overboard, the men saying she had acted as if she was crazy this few days past, being afraid the vessel would sink. The vessel going very fast through the water, and it being about an hour from the time she left the house, and the sea running very high, thought it would be useless to put the vessel on the other tack to look for her, so kept on, and took an inventory of her effects, before witnesses, and stowed them away.

Capt. Duprey referred us to the testimony of one of the passengers named Conklin, to corroborate his version of the story. We called at Conklin's dwelling, but did not find him at home. The Captain spoke of our business, when his wife volunteered the information, so far as her husband had informed her. Conklin states "that he was on deck at the time this woman was ordered aft by the Captain, and that she started for the lee gangway and jumped overboard! He also stated that when she did so, he was the only person who saw the act; and that when he saw the crew hunting after the woman, as she was a sort of pest to him, he was glad she was gone, and he concluded to say nothing about her going overboard."

This is the testimony of Conklin's wife, as she told us, quite in her very words. What can be thought of a being wearing the shape of a man, who would see a female do such an act, and yet neither try to restrain her, or give an alarm; and yet, further, see a search made for her, and still keep silent? We should like to know how Capt. Duprey knew he witnessed the act, and kept his temper with him, when he withheld the information at the time of the search?

Capt. Duprey had considerable difficulty with his passengers on the trip, and if any of them are circulating this falsehood to his prejudice, we are willing to do him full justice; but we do think there are many circumstances connected with this tragedy unaccounted for. During rough weather, as stated in the extract, there must have been other persons on deck besides Conklin, who would have seen this occurrence. The vessel is only about 150 tons, and the watch on deck must have seen such a thing transpire. We do hope that if any of the persons who came in this vessel are able to clear these facts from their present dark aspect, they will do it. We want no such testimony as that of Conklin. None but a fiend could have acted as he has done, if his wife told the truth.

RECORDER'S COURT.—The preliminary examination which has been pending for several days of the three persons under arrest for the murder committed in Pacific street last Sunday night week, was terminated last night. James was discharged, Carr was committed, and the case of Mathews reserved for further consideration by his Honor. The District Attorney, Mr. Benham, conducted the examination on behalf of the State. Mr. Wells for the prisoners.

In the morning of the same day, Edward Jesus was arraigned for grand larceny, and ordered to give bonds in the sum of $700 to appear for future trial, or in default to remain in custody. The crime was committed the day of the fire, and some portion of the stolen property recovered.

☞ We are requested to state that the "Laura Virginia," which left this port for Humboldt, on Saturday evening, having met with an accident and broke her rudder, returned last evening for repairs. Ottinger & Brown, of Central Wharf, will dispatch the brig Reindeer, to-morrow, at 12 o'clock, with her passengers and freight. The Reindeer being a larger vessel can take a few more passengers, and an additional amount of freight, if application be made to-day.

The Farellones.

The excursion to these islands by the pilot-boat Rialto, on Saturday last, seems to have been a most pleasing occasion. These islands are about twenty-five miles out from the harbor, and are apparently formed by a volcanic upheaval from the bed of the ocean. The largest one contains about twenty acres. It was once occupied by the Russians, whose tenements are yet there in an almost perfect state. The visiters found the place occupied by myriads of sea fowls of every known kind, and some with which they were unacquainted; among other strange birds, they describe the web-footed parrot, which has the outlines of a parrot with the foot of a water-fowl.

The most wonderful occupants there are the kings of beasts—the sea lions. These animals have congregated there to the number of thousands. They are of the hugest class of four footed beasts, weighing between two and three thousand pounds! They have the resemblance of a lion in conformation, including the mane, and roar in a similar manner, but much louder. When the party landed, these animals seemed to be curious to observe the intruders, and were rather more familiar than their appearance would seem to desire. On being approached most of them took the water, several of them however, turned and appeared ready to wait for combat. This seems to be a spot where they congregate to rear their young, as over two hundred helpless cubs, (if they can be so called) were there left to the tender mercies of the invaders. This was the apparent reason of their roaring and other actions of expressing great solicitude. Three or four of the old ones were shot, after some difficulty, for their large bodies could only be penetrated by the largest sized balls. Some trophies were brought home worthy of notice, which, with a full account of the voyage, we are promised to-morrow.

We are glad to learn that the party annexed these islands to the United States, as the first of a series in the Pacific ocean.

We stole a peep at the Rialto's manifest and took off a few items of commercial interest alone, which together with the distinguished arrivals from this part of the Pacific, we hasten to lay before our readers in advance of all compeers.

Distinguished Arrivals.— Chief Justice Hastings, Chief Justice Morse, Judge Smith, Judge Parsons, Judge Morrison, Gov. Smith, Gen. Addison and staff, Gen. Tharp, Col. Weller, Col. Hays, Col. Yale, Col. Graham, Major McKinstry, Major Caperton, Major Venable, Major Bailey, Capt. Wainright, Capt. Simpson, Capt. Colexter, Alderman Green, and Mrs. Tigress.

Consignment per Rialto to the order of Barnum—A male and female sea lion and brood, a duck-toed parrot.

To the order of the Smithsonian Institute—A pipe and wash-bowl of an ancient chief, decorated with wreaths of mermaids' teeth. The thigh bone of the last inhabitant, in fragments. A piece of rock, supposed to be stratified. An ancient egg-shell, as a specimen. Some petrified putty. Some empty bottles, of historical value.

To order of shippers—Plans of two new towns, with water lots and summit levels annexed. Several baskets of variegated eggs, of the oloriferous and gull varieties: one broken cane: two lame legs: three shocking bad hats; some well conceived ideas of the new settlement, and descriptions for it.

RETURN OF A COMET.—Lieutenant M F. Maury communicates to the National Intelligencer some interesting astronomical news. He states that a letter from the Rev. Mr. Jenkins, of Georgetown College, who sailed from Rio in October last, contains the following item:

"On November 28th, at 7½ P. M., we saw distinctly a comet to westward, nearly in the track of the sun, and about 14 deg. above the horizon, as measured with the quadrant, the nucleus very distinct, and about as large in appearance as Mars, the tail curved and pointed towards the south, (S. W.) quite bright, and nearly a degree in length, as visible to the naked eye, but much larger when viewed with the spy glass. It was seen by all the crew for twenty minutes, when a cloud intercepted it, and it never more was seen."

It is thought that this may be the great comet of 1264 and 1556, the return of which astronomers are expecting about this time.

DROWNED.—The Sacramento Transcript of the 25th instant says: "A man named Joseph Kelly, who had been in delicate health for some time, left his house and family on Tuesday evening last between nine and ten o'clock, in a state of partial derangement. Shortly after, he appeared at the Pacific Theatre, where he was quite noisy. Leaving the theatre, he went to Mr. Queen's Lecture Room, where he attracted notice by his strange conduct; and from this place he went direct to the river and plunged into the current. Immediate efforts were made to rescue him, but he was not recovered till life was extinct. A coroner's inquest was held over the body, and the verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts."

ADDRESS of the Democratic Members of the Legislature of California to their Constituents.

From the advantageous position we occupy, as your representatives at the State capital, to observe and understand the political condition of California and the political condition and necessities of the Democratic party, we deem it our duty to present to you our views in reference thereto; and to urge upon you the adoption of such a system of party organization as will secure the rapid and complete promulgation of those doctrines in which we all believe and the triumph of that faith to which we all claim to be devoted.

In reviewing the political history of the Union, the widely different doctrines of its two great political parties are presented in the most violent contrast, and form a subject for reflection on the past, and the gravest deliberations on the present and the future.

Such a retrospection awakens in the breast of the Democratic Republican the most cheerful and delightful feelings of patriotic self gratulation, for it opens to his view a long and almost uninterrupted series of splendid victories.

Based upon those great and enlightened principles so peculiarly adapted for the amelioration and improvement of the human race, the distinctive measures of our party have ever been boldly and frankly presented for the favor of the American people. And with the noble words "Equality, Fraternity and Progress" inscribed upon our banner, and the descriptive mottos of "Free Trade and Anti-Bank" as the exponents of our doctrines, we have been cheered by the most complete confidence of the American nation and entrusted with the guardianship of the Republic for nearly the whole period of its existence.

Not so, however, the fortunes of our adversaries. With unsound and bad principles, with Anti Republican feelings—with strongly monarchical proclivities and deeply imbued with the sentiment of protecting and nourishing the "few at the expense of the many" and acting upon this idea, the present Taylor party had become so odious up to the period of Mr. Monroe's administration that at that juncture it found it expedient and necessary to obliterate the party lines and deny its identity. It was then thought to be quite dead. But collecting together fragments of the various parties and under its new cognomen, denouncing the war of 1812, and covered with continued defeat and disaster, it "dragged its slow length along" up to the celebrated "hard cider and coon skin campaign of 1840." In 1844, 5, 6, &c., after the most complete and overwhelming defeat that ever party suffered, we find it arrayed in opposition to the annexation of Texas and in bitter denunciation of the Mexican war and its devoted and distinguished heroes.

We heard that glorious war, the bare remembrance of which should fill every heart with pride and enthusiasm, denounced as "unjust, unholy, and unrighteous;" we heard its heroes denounced as "pirates and robbers;" the Whig press was most bitter in its vituperation, and the Whig pulpit most exorcising in its anathemas. The Whig voice of the country was that those devoted patriots who were fighting for their country's rights in a distant land; for her honor and her glory; who endured every hardship with the readiest cheerfulness, and poured out their life's blood in the sacred cause, should be "welcomed with bloody hands to hospitable graves." Most bitter were our opponents to that war and those measures, which have raised to our nation a column of fame that attracts the gaze and excites the admiration of the world; to that war and those measures, among the splendid fruits of which was the acquisition of a territory 600,000 square miles in extent, with a thousand miles of sea coast, with the richest mines in the world, the most delightful climate and the most generous soil; to that war and those measures which have given to the American nation our adopted country.

The acquisition of California having been accomplished by the Democratic party in the face of all this "aid and comfort" afforded the nation's enemy by our political adversaries, these latter in Congress did not even then cease their opposition to this country, but after the most strenuous though unsuccessful exertions to secure the recision of the treaty, they determined to refuse California the usual territorial government.—With this unjust purpose at heart, and actuated by the most unpatriotic, partizan, selfish and factious motives—careless of the integrity of the Union, and indifferent to the interest and rights of California, the Whig party in the House of Representatives determined upon the defeat of the famous "Compromise Bill,"—a measure in consequence of the passage of which the laws and protection of the federal government would long since have been extended over California; a government mint furnished us; the expenses of our home government borne: the usual rich donation made us; our admission into the Union as a sovereign State greatly expedited, and placed beyond contingency; and the great question of agitation in the "States" settled forever. But the "Whigs killed the Compromise" and on them should fall the heavy responsibility.

After a weak and contemptible opposition to the late brilliant administration, and after the last unsuccessful attempt to impede and thwart the successful conduct of the war, our opponents again discarded their oft repudiated measures, denied their faith, and refused to acknowledge the "embodiment" of their party. Convinced of the unpopularity of their doctrines, they threw them all overboard, and raised the cry of "No Party." But no sooner do a generous and too confiding people entrust to them the reins of government, than they discover that they are the subjects of an elaborate and studied duplicity—that the Trojan horse is within the gates of the city, filled with armed men, and that all the odious and repudiated old doctrines are to be again foisted upon the country. Is California the country in which such doctrines can flourish and prevail?

Do the exigencies of California require the prevalence of a bank paper currency? Is it to the interest of California for the proceeds of the public lands to be distributed among the States, when we ourselves have the most valuable and the most extensive in all the confederacy? Does California need a Protective Tariff law, and is it to her interest to have the wings of Commerce shackled, when we have no manufactures to protect, and we look abroad and depend upon Commerce for our supplies of every description.

We call upon you, then, Democrats, to form your county and town organizations, your regular club and your precinct meetings. We call upon you as patriot party men, to disseminate those principles and measures which have brought the American Republic to its present high state of prosperity and greatness. We call upon you to actively continue and increase your labors in the Republican cause!

We call upon you, citizens of California, as men who can learn wisdom from the past, to unite in the support of that party who would fain have their glorious and imperishable principles printed in letters of gold upon the great firmament of Heaven that all might see, read and be convinced. We call upon you to join that party which sooner or later must be universal.

We confidently call upon you to endorse those principles and that great Democratic party, who have created a Republic on this Western Hemisphere whose basis like the eternal pyramids are sunk far below frost-work, whose highest summit is gilded by the rays of enlightenment and the sun of perennial glory.

Difficulties in the Southern Mines.

STOCKTON, May 22, 1850.

Editor Pacific News: The great topic of remark and interest here, at present, is the Foreign Miners' Tax. Various rumors are afloat, and conjectures formed, as to the state of things since the 13th instant, when the act of the Legislature was to be enforced throughout the mines.

In Sonora, we were credibly informed yesterday, an attempt at an armed resistance has been projected, headed by some Frenchmen. To-day, it appears that nothing more had occurred than a gathering of drunken fellows who had called on the Alcalde last Sunday, to present their case and protest against the unjust law. Some of them were armed. A collector of the tax had been beset by them recently, and while he had several at bay, one of the Mexicans drew his knife and made a thrust at him. A Texan interposed, and at a blow nearly severed his head from his body.

The community, here, seem somewhat divided in sentiment as to the effects of the recent law imposing a tax of $20 per month upon all foreigners who work the mines. Many think it contrary to the Constitution of the United States to tax foreigners, as such; regarding it like the head-tax imposed by Massachusetts on Irish immigrants, a few years since.—They say, also, that it is unjust in its operations, oppressive towards the poor and less lucky gold hunters. Merchants and business men, and, indeed, thinking men generally, are of these opinions, here and in the mines.

The miners themselves may, and often admit all this; but say they feel deeply the injury inflicted upon them by so vast an influx of men from foreign lands, who come with no intention of becoming citizens, as they usually admit, but solely to enrich themselves from what is properly our own, as citizens of the United States. They say, and with truth, that they themselves, the inhabitants here, the owners of the soil—ought not to be thus treated; that no one has a right "to take of the children's bread and give it unto dogs." A very deep and universal sentiment exists among them everywhere to this effect. And should occasion demand it, not a man would hesitate to enforce his rights with arms, or seal his devotion to his country's cause with his blood.

Speaking, as I do, Spanish and French, and from extensive travels through the mines, I know well the sentiments of the men, of those races. Nothing, in the way of resistance, may be apprehended from any of these. The Germans who are here, love our institutions and are almost universally bona fide citizens, or to become such. We have left, then, the English. Much as I love England and her great names, and history, I am bound to say, as a man of veracity, that I have never encountered a more brutal detestable, and thoroughly corrupt and debased set of men, than is generally to be found through the mines, among those who claim England as the land of their birth. I make this statement honestly, and with the fullest means of information on which to ground it.

SATURDAY, May 25.

Daily, of late, crowds of Mexicans, Chilians, and French, are coming down from Sonora to this place, leaving for San Francisco; thus confirming the statement above, that no resistance to the law would be made by them as a body. They say that they are poor, and cannot pay the tax, and live.

Merchants here predict serious injury to their business as one of the results. Of course it will cheapen labor in San Francisco and elsewhere. C. M. B.

SUPERIOR COURT, May 27.—Present Chief Justice Morse and Associates Murray and Smith.

Carr and others, against Hagan. The Chief Justice delivered the opinion of the Court on the motion to dissolve the injunction in these causes. The majority of the Court were of opinion that the ordinance of the Common Council authorizing the Harbor Master to do certain acts was not valid: that the Common Council could not delegate its authority, nor extend or restrict the powers of a State officer. The question then fell back upon the true construction of the third and fourth sections of the act creating the office of Harbor Master of the Port of San Francisco. Section 3d provides that the Harbor Master may station the vessels in the Harbor, and remove such vessels as are not employed in receiving or discharging their cargoes, for the purpose of accommodating others which require to be accommodated, and making the Harbor Master the sole judge in the case. Section 4th imposes a penalty of $500 in case of a refusal to obey the orders of the Harbor Master, when made in the proper scope of his authority.—The majority of the Court were of opinion that the power to remove, implied the right to remove with force if necessary; and that the 4th section giving the penalty was merely cumulative, and did not impair the power to remove vessels which is given under the third section. This was a necessary power for some public officer to exercise in every harbor: it might be exercised arbitrarily, it is true, but in such cases the officer would be responsible in damages to the parties thereby injured or oppressed. Ordered that the injunction be dissolved.

Murray, Associate Justice, dissented from the opinion of the majority of the Court. He thought that the penalty given in the fourth section was not cumulative, but was given as a specific compensation for the violation of the third section. That the power to remove, was merely an authority to remove by legal process, and did not authorize a forcible removal.

Messrs. Holt & Dwinelle, for the motion. Messrs. Shattuck & Yale, for the plaintiffs.

COMMERCIAL NEWS.

SAN FRANCISO MARKETS.

Monday Evening, May 27.

The flour market has been a shade firmer; holders have demanded $12 to 12.50 upon large lots, for whole sacks, and 6.87 to $7 for ½ sacks. Although in considerable request, no very heavy transactions have been made. The money market is beginning to evince the stringency which usually prevails just previous to the departure of the steamer. The State stamp of assay, introduced under the recent act of the Legislature, is not generally recognized by the banking houses, and only to a partial extent among the business community. There will probably be an unwillingness upon the part of our citizens generally to receive gold dust here at U S value, and then incur the additional expenses of shipment home, for which purpose the greater quantity of dust is bought and reserved. Under the present state of affairs, gold dust pays expenses of shipment and something better, being the same as par in New York to the holder here. Capital is becoming more abundant; the safe opportunities for its use are not so frequent as formerly.

In the lumber line, piles have advanced in price. Ruling prices have been as low as 45 cts per running foot; they have now advanced to 62½65 cts. There is more request for this kind than for any other building materials.

"DOCTOR RABE IS IN TOWN."

DR. RABE, of the firm of Dr. Rabe & co. begs leave to announce in plain prose, that he has returned from his trip to the Atlantic cities of the United States, and has procured a stock of medicines beyond all conception, and that he has tried to engage a poet to advertise his stock, but finds the task too hard.

Dr. Rabe & co. therefore invite their friends to come down to the matter of fact, that they have all the medicine any body else has got, and a little more besides.

Only think of a sheet of drawing paper 300 feet long and 4½ feet wide!

EMPIRE CITY.

FOR Sonorian Camp, Wood's Diggings, Sullivan's, Hawkins's and Don Pedro's Bars, head waters of Tuolumne, Mercedes, and Mariposa Rivers; also, to head waters of san Joaquin and King's River FREIGHT OR PASSAGE TO EMPIRE CITY, TUOLUMNE. DURFEE & TOWNSEND have established a daily line of sailing vessels from san Francisco to the above city, situated on the south easterly bank of the Tuolumne river, thirty-five miles above its mouth, and are prepared to carry freight or passengers.

This route is the only one which can be really said to extend, by water, to the very gold field. The city stands at the head of navigation on the Tuolumne river, where the low hills of the Sierra Nevada meet the plains of the san Joaquin, and is not only accessable by sufficient water at all seasons of the year, but the roads to the mines, from that point, are good in wet or dry weather. Goods shipped to Empire City, Tuolumne, save from 25 to 60 miles of land carriage over any other depot for that gold region, avoiding soft roads, expensive ferriage, and personal discomfort.

Persons shipping goods, or taking passage, may rely upon promptness in dispatch, speed in transit, and great saving in time and expense.

For freight or passage, apply to messrs. Turner, Fish & co., foot of Jackson street, san Francisco, or to the subscribers, Empire City, Tuolumne. April 29, 1850.

cxxxii tf Durfee & Townsend.

EMPIRE AND CRESCENT CITIES.

THE survey of this town being completed at the head of navigation on the Tuolumne river, and numerous lots sold and houses erected, designed originally to bear the name of Crescent city, the subscribers, owners of lots in said town, learning that a plot of ground on the northwesterly bank of said river, two miles below, surveyed and laid out last year, still insists upon its rights and advantages as a place for a city, have concluded to leave to the town plot alluded to the beautiful name of Cresent city, and adopt one quite as appropriate, if not so beautiful.—Henceforth, therefore, we claim the name of Empire city. The map will be deposited in the proper offices, and the change in name noted.

Empire city stands on the southeasterly bank of the Tuolumne river, and is the only point accessible by water at all seasons, immediately contiguous to the gold fields of Tuolumne. Merced, Mariposa and San Joaquin rivers. It is at the head of navigation on the Tuolumne river, 35 miles from its mouth. Those persons wishing a settlement in the country are desired to visit it, and examine its advantages over any of its competitors. Signed—Philo Durfee, Edwin D. Townsend, Wm. J. Marcy, W. H. Willson, Joseph E. Miller, Wm. M Rowlett, Thomas J. L. Smiley, David Turner, Edward S. Townsend, Edward Conway, Henry E Perrine, J. B. Lattimer.

TO THE PUBLIC.

SEMI-WEEKLY PAPER AT MARYSVILLE.

THE UNDERSIGNED is about to establish a semi-weekly newspaper at the town of Marysville, under the title of the MARYSVILLE HERALD. In politics its position will be independent. Bound to none, it will lend what influence it may have to all such measures as the necessities of the State may demand, without regard to their origin. It will aim to be a medium of correct information from the Northern mines, in the very heart of which it is to be published; while, as an instrument by which men of business in San Francisco and Sacramento city, can make themselves known to their REAL customers, it will have no superior in California, for its circulation will be confined almost wholly to the miners, upon whom the merchants and dealers must to a large extent rely for their success. For the miners, who are unabe to obtain papers from the Atlantic States, full abstracts of all important sayings and doings at home will be given, together with whatever else occasion and fitness may demand. It is proposed to issue the first number on or about the first of June.
